Pennsbury Manor

The 17th Century Country Estate of William Penn

Pennsbury Manor is the 17th century recreated country estate of William Penn, statesman, founder and first governor of Pennsylvania. It is situated on 43 acres along the Delaware River in picturesque Bucks County. Originally built in 1682, the estate closely reflects the 40 acres Penn himself had cleared. Today, Pennsbury Manor is administered by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission with the Pennsbury Society, a non-profit 501(c)(3) organization. Through tours, exhibits, workshops, and educational programs, Pennsbury shares the 17th century and the life of William Penn with more than 30,000 visitors each year.

Pennsbury Manor was among the first to receive full accreditation of the 11 historic sites and museums in Pennsylvania currently accredited by the American Association of Museums.

Why Membership?

Your membership in The Pennsbury Society ensures that Pennsbury Manor will continue to grow and succeed in its mission of education.

Your partnership helps support school programs, as well as over 80 different cultural programs per year that range from family-oriented festival days to garden workshops, distance learning, preschool events, and living history demonstrations.

This 43-acre historic site shares the colonial world of William Penn; founder and first governor of Pennsylvania with more than 30,000 visitors each year. Your support is invaluable in moving the past to the present and beyond.

Pennsbury Society members will receive special invitations to member-only events, as well as a subscription to the e-newsletter Pennsbury Matters.

Join as a Passport member and receive free admission to the Pennsylvania Trail of History sites and museums, as well as a one year subscription to Pennsylvania Heritage Magazine, a quarterly publication about the Commonwealth's rich history and culture.
